public. It makes a straight cut between the two nearest points of undoubted Argentine and Brazilian territory, and entirely destroys three strategic lines that the Argentines had built with great care.

Secretary of State Blaine has sent out circulars to all ministers and consuls, possibly in South America, certainly in Brazil, requesting information in regard to the means of extending American trade in their localities. As most of these officials are new men, they will naturally require some time to get the desired information. The consul-general at Rio, Mr. Oliver H. Dockery, is very assidnous in his efforts to comply with Mr. Blaine's request. All commercial drummers are asked to give their opinion, and each opinion thus obtained is made into a dispatch. If American trade is to make headway in Brazil, great improvement in the mail service is demanded. The mails from the United States are now very irregular. They are supposed to come every three weeks, but, as a general rule, it is from four to six or seven weeks before a letter mailed in the United States reaches its destination in this country. The most expeditious way now is to send letters by way of England.

RAILWAYS IN CHINA.

Russia's Siberian Line Will Force the Celestials to Build a System of Their Own.

NEW YORK, April 8 .- A Shanghai correspondet of the Herald writes as follows: The imperial fiat has gone forth blocking the prospects of Chang Chihtung's railway from the sacred city to the great emporium of the Yangtsze, famous alike for its velvets and its teas, Hankow. There is, however, a growing feeling that the time is ripe for railway building on a large scale in China. It is not, it must be remembered, because the high authorities in the empire are in favor of such a revolution as a widespread system of railways would necessarily bring about, or that their ideas have so far advanced that they wish to see their old modes of traveling by Sedan chairs through two footpaths, and picturesque boats through winding creeks and canals, superceded by the snorting steed of the Westerns. No, the general spirit of the Mandarinate is just what it was a century ago; but in the same way as China has been driven to supplant its ancient fleets of unwieldy junks by iron-clads and smartooking sun-boats, because the "foreign devils" just half a century ago showed the pig-tailed race how feeble their old-fashoned modes of warfare were against those of modern Europe, so the ruling class in China are to-day convinced that if the old leviathan among nations does not wake up and bestir herself she will ere long fall to pieces from sheer inability to exist in the altered condition of Asia. Until Russia began to build the great system of railways, which is slowly spreading itself over the whole of northern and central Asia, the Chinese statesmen held it treason to hear the bare name of railways uttered in connection with their ancient, secluded and haughty empire. But now that the iron horse, panting under his heavy load of Russian soldiery, comes right up to her western frontier and the shining steel arms of the octopus are beginning to stretch out along her northern confines over Siberia to the ocean, the startled advisers of the young occupant of the dragon throne are convinced that they must be up and stirring, and that the only way offering a prospect of success is to meet the threatening invader with his own weapons. For the last year or two the mediævallooking warriors who guard the northern frontier of China have been sending dispatches and memorials to their chiefs in Pekin containing accounts of the strange preparations and maneuvers which are taking place in the adjacent territories of the Czar; of the numerous parties of Russian engineers who are surveying over frozen rivers, snowy hills and barren steppes with strange, suspicious and evillooking instruments and appliances; of the vast quantity of timber and iron which is being transported eastward and south-ward from the great rivers by the gray-coated Russian soldiery, and all of which the high Chinese officers have at last been reluctantly compelled to believe mean nothing else than the commencement of the operations of the monster they have long been dreading-the trans-Siberian railway which is to unite the vast posses sions of the Czar from Euxine to the Pacific with bands of steel. I have it from the highest authority that this spring will see that line begun in earnest. Great preparations are being made in the collection of material at the various points along the road, and the route is at present overrun with Russian engineering officers, who are working under the direction of General Annenkoff and the Governors of the provinces of Asuri and Eastern Siberia. A traveler who recently came over the route assured me that Baron Von Rosen, at Irkutsk, with whom he had a long talk, is sanguine of being able to commence opera-tions about April next, and further, that it is the intention to begin the line at Tomsk, Stretinsk and Vladivostock simul-

I am convinced that the object of all the recent Russian coquetting with Corea and the secret trading treaties with that wretched country was in connection with the coming railway in the hopes of obtaining a port on the Pacific which would be free from ice all the year around. Such a port Russia will get by hook or crook. It is necessary for the working of the railway and for the efficiency of her large fleet in these waters, and get it she must. We know how near it she was four or five years ago. With the Russian railway along her northern border, and lapping around her alleged vassal state, Corea, there is nothing for China but to keep pace with her dreaded northern neighbor. For this reason say that the Russians are the great civilizing and progressive influence upon China. When the Muscovites commence their railway the sound of their picks will be promptly echoed back by those of the Chinese navvies on a counter line. The people in Pekin are fully alive to the seriousness of what their situation will be when the Siberian railway is un fait accompli. Now they are merely holding back till they are forced to commence similar operations on their own account by the convincing argument of looking to their own preservation.

A Revolting Crime in Prussia Leads to the Arrest of Thirty Chinamen. LONDON, April 8.-The barbarous murder of Helena Montana, a disreputable woman. at Hobersthat, near Aix-la-Chapelle, has created great excitement. The woman was killed in some mysterious manner in the open street under the eyes of passers-by. The throat was cut from ear to ear. The body was disemboweled and otherwise mutilated after the fashion of "Jack the Ripper." The unfortunate woman was drinking with a Chinaman all the afternoon in a low den, and the pair parted

The police arrested thirty laborers of the Chinese colony on suspicion of having been accessory to the murder. The London poliee department is much interested in this crime on account of its similarity to the murders committed by "Jack the Ripper." and sent detectives vesterday to trace the scenes of the last Whitechapel murder, taking details of the Hobersthat murder along with them for comparison. Youthful Murderer Hanged. LONDON, April 8.—The appeals made on behalf of Richard Davies, the eighteenyear-old boy, who, together with his brother George, sixteen years old, was sentenced to death for the murder of his father, at Crewe, were unavailing, and today the prisoner was hanged. The younger brother, as before announced, was last week granted a reprieve by the Home Sec-

The storm of indignation against Home ecretary Matthews by the hanging of Richard Davies to-day is increasing. Mishap of an American Parachute Leaper. London, April 8.-An American named Matthews attempted to drop from a balloon by the aid of a parachute at Corydon, yesterday, and came very near losing his life. The balloon had reached a great height when Matthews made his leap, but it was not so high that the great crowd of spectators were not able to see that he had become entangled in the cording of the air-ship and was dangling helplessly under-neath the car, the balloon meanwhile drifting away while gradually descending. In this way Matthews was carried several miles and finally lodged on the peak of a roof, from which he was rescued. He was badly cut, scratched and bruised, but not seriously injured.

The engine-house of the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago road, a frame building two hundred by sixty feet, was completely wrecked, burying three passenger and two freight engines, and severely injuring Geo. Bruns, a helper in the shops. Two of the engines were to have been used on the north-and-south going passenger trains at midnight. THE PROPHETSTOWN STORM.

Buildings in the Historic Village Destroyed, but no Lives Lost-Several Persons Hurt. DENROCK, Ill., April 8.—Greatly exaggerated reports have been sent out about the wind-storm at Prophetstown, three miles east of here, last night. It was said that the town had been wiped off the face of the earth, and that forty or fifty lives were lost. No one was killed, but owing to the fact that the wires were blown down credence was given to every rumor that reached here last night. Fortunately no one was killed. The storm began at 7:30 last evening, coming from the north. Clark Reynolds's house was blown in on two sides, and Olmstead & Matthews's elevator was considerably damaged. Several other houses were damaged. Only four or five persons were injured and these not seriously. During the storm about an inch of hailstones the size of marbles fell.

The railroad authorities make the following report: "A storm struck Prophetstown about 7 o'clock last evening, blowing the depot from its foundation, blowing off half the roof and smashing the windows. The elevator was blown down and rests on the side-track. A string of fourteen cars blew out from the siding into the main track about three miles from here with brakes set. Quite a number of buildings were blown do in the village and a number of persons hurt. With the one exception of one stock train delayed all others are on time."

When a reporter visited Prophetstown to-day he found that for half a mile in width and a mile in length some damage was done. Three houses, at elevator and seven barns were wrecked. Edward Hammond, wife and one child were slightly injured, Mrs. Hammond having her collar bone broken. Clark Reynolds's family, who occupied one of the demolished houses, were all hurt, hav been hit by flying splinters and brick. The condition of none of them is dangerous The storm struck the town from the south west and continued at its worst about ten minutes. The rainfall was two inches, and the hail very heavy. The tornado was local, no damage being done outside of this place so far as can be learned. The hailstorm extended several miles east, but it was lighter in force. The damage to property of all kinds will not exceed $20,000. Prophetstown is one of the most historic villages in Illinois. Situated on Rock river. in Whitesides county, about a score of miles from the spot where it empties into the Mississippi river, it has been in exist-ence as an Indian village as far back as the traditions of the Northwest extend. During the dark and bloody days when Gen. Whitesides, for whom the county in which Prophetstown was located is named, was fighting Black Hawk and his savages, Prophetstown was a small Indian village, and it is related that the soldiers burned the wigwams and looted the village, though the Indians who had occupied it had hitherto been on friendly terms with the whites. The name has an original origin, "The Prophet," as the great Tecumseh was known, having made the village his headquarters. When the country was finally at peace and began to develop under the whites. Prophetstown became a town of considerable importance, but has never attained any great popula-tion. It has now probably 1,000 inhabitants, but, not being a county-seat, has no particular commercial importance. Terrific Storm at Denver. DENVER, Col., April 8.-The most terrific wind-storm for many years swept over this city early this morning. Many houses were unroofed and the walls of several buildings in the course of erection were blown down. No one was injured.

A MUCH-ADVERTISED WEDDING.

Marriage of Count Pappenheim and Miss Wheeler Set for April 30. PHILADELPHIA, April 8 .- After considerable uncertainty upon the part of the friends of Count Maximilian Pappenheim and Miss Mary Wheeler, it is now positively announced upon authority that the wedding will take place on the 30th of the present month. When the Count was asked why his wedding had been set for April 30, and why it had not taken place yesterday, as was first decided upon, his brow clouded a bit, and then, nodding and smiling to Miss Wheeler, he replied that it was owing to circumstances beyond his control. "My love for Miss Wheeler," said the Count, "is so great that nothing can prevent our marriage. I think she loves me devotedly. The laws of Bavaria require that members of a of rank shall conform certain usages in case of marriage to foreigners or persons not equal in rank. Those requirements caused the delay in my marriage, but they have now been complied with." In his broken Engish he continued: "I went over to New York on Saturday. While there I received several cablegrams, one of which was from Mr. Elliott."

Coming Marriage of Miss Sarah Elkins. TRENTON, N. J., April 8.-Maj. Alex. C. Oliphant, of this city, is receiving congratulations on the announcement of his engagement to Miss Sarah, the eldest daughter of Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia.
The wedding will take place in the fall at
Mr. Elkins's winter residence in New York. Major Oliphant is one of the most popular young men in New Jersey social circles. He is the son of Gen. Saml. D. Oliphant, clerk of the United States Circuit Court for New Jersey, and is a graduate of Annapolis, class of 1881. He is a member of the Globe Rubber Company.

Mary Auderson's Engagement Announced. WESTBURY, N. Y., April 8 .- All doubt concerning the engagement of Mr. Antonio de Navarro to Miss Mary Anderson is now at an end. A number of letters were received from Mr. Navarro yesterday by friends in this city, formally announcing his engage-ment. Mr. Navarro says nothing about the date of his marriage.

CHICAGO LABOR TROUBLES.

Carpenters Fighting for Recognition of Their Union-Plumbers' Strike Settled.

CHICAGO, April 8.-About fifty non-union carpenters from the surrounding towns went to work this morning, but they were visited by the strikers and labored with, with the result that they quit work. The struggle now seems to be narrowed down to recognition or non-recognition of the union. The carpenters demand 40 cents per hour, eight hours as a day's work and the yearly settlement upon a scale wages by conference between the builders and the carperters' union. The bosses are willing to concede the demand for eight hours, and to pay 3712 cents per hour, which the men would accept as a compromise; but the bosses absolutely refuse to recognize the union, and the men refuse to treat on any other basis except its recognition. It is believed that no further action will be taken in the matter, at least until Thursday night, when the builders will hold their regular weekly meeting. There was a hitch this morning in the negotiations for a settlement of the plumbers' strike, as the juniors objected to reduction in their demand for an advance of 50 cents per day in their wages to 25 cents. The arbitration committees were in session during the forenoon, and this afternoon signed the articles of settlement. The agreement is to run for two years from Feb. 1 last: journeymen to receive $3.60 per day, instead of $3.75, for which they struck, and juniors to get 25 cents per day advance, except in shops where it is customary to grant them an annual advance in wages. The men are well satisfied with the terms reached, and work will be resumed to-morrow.

Pillaged and Burned by Strikers. Vienna, April 8.-An immense meeting of striking workmen was held here to-day, which toward its close became turbulent. The police interfered and were attacked with stones. Before the mob could be dispersed they had pillaged a number of Jewish shops and set fire to a wine-shop. They prevented the approach of fire-engines until the shops were destroyed. The troops were called out and fired blank volleys at the mob, which finally dispersed.

The rioters afterwards sacked another tavern, and smashed all the windows in the place. Every vehicle that passed was stoned by the mob. Two squadrons of cavalry and a battalion of infantry dispersed the mob. Many civilians and fourteen policemen were wounded. Thirtyseven persons were arrested. The rioters stoned the police from the shelter of halfbuilt houses, and when the police stormed their strongholds the rioters fled. There were similar scenes in the suburbs throughout the day.

Labor and Strike Notes.

Seventy housand workingmen will be in attendance at the labor demonstration, which is to be held at Barcelona, Spain. in May, and it is probable that a general strike will follow.

The carpenters, plasterers, stone and brick-masons, plumbers, gas and steam-pipe men, of Lowell, Mass., are now working nine hours in agreement with the Master Builders' Association.

William Woods, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, has instituted in Danville, Ill., a branch lodge of the Mutual Mine-workers of North America. There are 205 charter members from Danville and Tilton.

The granite-cutters of Quincy, Mass., have demanded nine hours, and 31 cents an hour. The Granite Manufacturers' Association will concede the nine hours, but declined to pay more than 28 cents. The workmen will maintain their position.

Three thousand miners in the Houtzdale district met in mass-meeting at Tyrone, Pa., and agreed to join the United Miners' Association in a body. At Phillipsburg 2,500 met in mass-meeting and took the same action. The per capita tax collected from the miners will amount to $125,000 an-Mignel Coloma, the Guatemalan who was arrested recently at New York, upon his arrival from Europe, on the charge of smuggling about $4,000 worth of jewelry and diamonds, appears to have been the victim of a strange combination of circumstances. He is a wealthy banker and coffee-planter. and his wealth is rated in the millions. The various articles were each labelled with the name of the member of the household to whom the present was to be given. He is on trial before the United States Commissioners.
